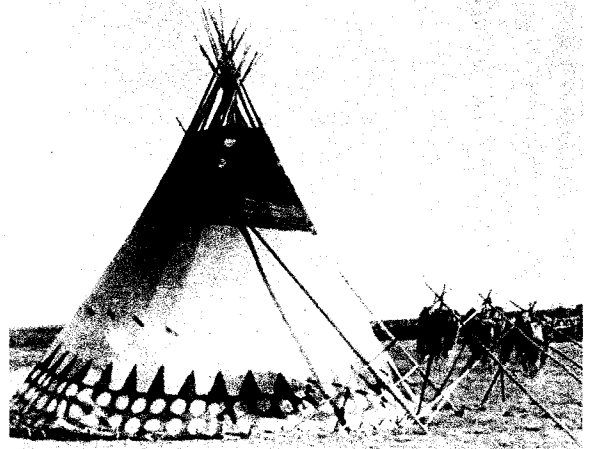
STATE-TRIBAL RELATIONS IC
JULY 20, 2012
Exhibit 12

TRIBAL RELATIONS HANDBOOK

A Guide for State Employees on Preserving the State-Tribal Relationship



Governor's Office of Indian Affairs
State of Montana
PO Box 200801
Helena, Montana 59620

Phone (406) 444-3702
Fax (406) 444-1350

www.tribalnations.mt.gov

Revised December 2011

of this public document were published at an estimated 97 per copy, for a total cost of $388.00, which includes 388.00 for printing and $0.00 for distribution.

oyee:

ne revised Tribal Relations Handbook, a guide for state of erving the State-Tribal relationship. I hope you find it useful tribal governments and Indian people.

Table of Contents

I. Purpose of This Handbook 4

II. Mutual Understanding and Respect 4-10

- A. Map of Indian Reservations Located in Montana 5
- B. Background Information on the Eight Tribal Governments Located in Montana 6-9
- C. Annual Training for State Employees 9
- D. Online State Resources 10

III. Regular & Early Communication 10-13

- A. The Governor 10
- B. The Montana Office of Indian Affairs 10-11
- C. State Agencies & Departments 11-12
- D. Communication Protocol with Tribal Governments 12-13

IV. Cooperation & Collaboration 14-15

V. Accountability 15

VI. Preservation of the State-Tribal Relationship 15

VII. Tribal Governments Contact Information 16-17

VIII. Governor's Office of Indian Affairs Contact Information 17

red statehood in 1889, tribal cultures flourished in these lian nations have a long history here, and will continue to play ıre. The State of Montana is committed to strong tribal iples of:

and respect;
munication;
oration;
essing issues of mutual concern; and te-tribal relationship.

cted in state law. §2-15-142, MCA. This Handbook, produced ffice of Indian Affairs, is for the purpose of assisting state implement these principles in their work with tribal ple.

effectively with a tribal government or Indian people is an culture and present concerns of individual Tribes. Tribes are r, and state employees who work with Tribes should take the bout their unique characteristics.

andbook provides basic background information on each of located within Montana.

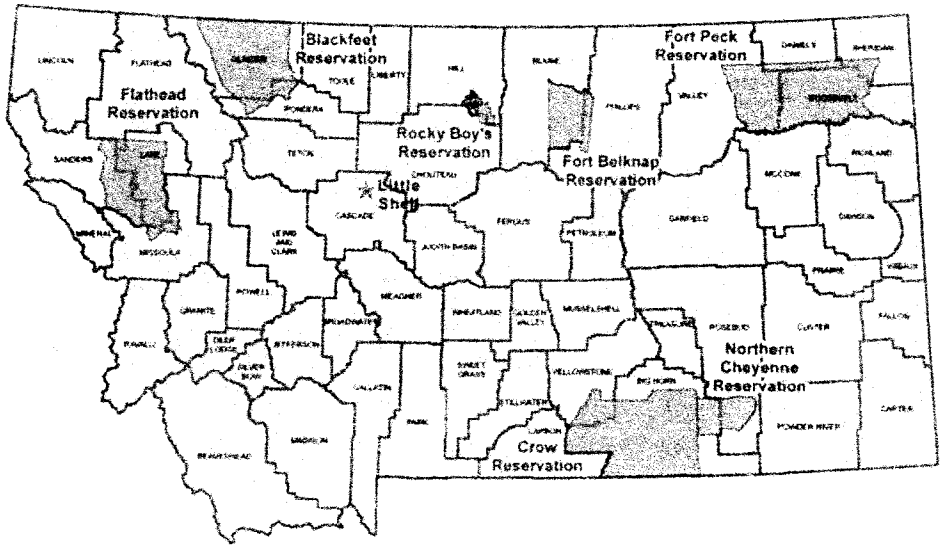
A. Map of Indian Reservations Located in Montana



BLACKFEET RESERVATION

Home of the Blackfeet Nation headquartered in Browning, Montana

FLATHEAD RESERVATION

Home of the Confederated Salish, Pend d'Oreille & Kootenai Tribes headquartered in Pablo, Montana

FORT PECK RESERVATION

Home of the Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes headquartered in Poplar, Montana

NORTHERN CHEYENNE RESERVATION

Home of the Northern Cheyenne Tribe headquartered in Lame Deer, Montana

CROW RESERVATION

Home of the Crow Nation headquartered in Crow Agency, Montana

FORT BELKNAP RESERVATION

Home of the Gros Ventre & Assiniboine Tribes headquartered in Fort Belknap Agency, Montana

LITTLE SHELL TRIBE OF CHIPPEWA INDIANS OF MONTANA

Recognized by the State of Montana

ROCKY BOY'S RESERVATION

Home of the Chippewa Cree Tribe headquartered in Rocky Boy Agency, Montana